I do not [illegible] gold standard nor a [illegible] standard, but I do believe [illegible] gold and silver as the [illegible] of the country, and in [illegible] in our mints at a [illegible] without any discrimination [illegible] against the other. [illegible] Sen. Hill continued:

I shall refuse to follow into the first steps of any administration that seeks to place the Democratic party in a false position, but seeks to lead away from the path of safety and from Democratic principles that [illegible] and into the very camp of the enemy. The President must rely upon Republican votes to carry out any such financial policy. I shall not believe, however, that any such course will be taken by the President of his [illegible] until clearer evidence shall be furnished than now exists.

In conclusion Senator Hill said: What we need now is the prompt repeal of the Sherman law.

"No one," said he, "[illegible] Democrat, Republican or Populist, should be deterred from voting for this bill simply because it is hailed as a [illegible] measure. That furnishes no argument either for or against it. I repeat that in [illegible] who are constantly posing as the personal or especial friends of the administration and who whisper in our ears every day that the administration wants this and does not want that, and we must not vote so as to displease the administration."

When Mr. Hill declared that himself and his colleagues would vote for the pending bill, manifest by prior and corrupted by federal patronage, there was applause in the galleries. Again the Vice president suppressed the applause if it was received.

Upon the conclusion of Mr. Hill's speech at 2:15 Mr. Stewart of Nevada spoke on the silver question. He declared that the bill of the finance committee was a bill practically to demonetize silver. No man should be deceived on that question. The bill was an insult to the intelligence of the American people.

At Mr. Vance's suggestion unanimous consent was given that the vote on the Lee Mantle case shall be taken up at 2 p. m. Monday next. Adjourned until Monday.

[illegible]

The Speaker appointed the following committee to represent the House at the proceedings to be held in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the laying of the corner stone of the Capitol: Messrs. Bynum, Warner, Hayes, Henderson, O'Neil and Grosvenor.

The silver debate was resumed. Mr. Pendleton (Dem.) of Texas expressed his intention to vote for the free coinage of silver at any ratio.

Mr. Bowers (Rep.) of California said: "Pass a free coinage bill and we will just the nations of the world begging us to join in an international agreement for the coinage of both gold and silver."

Mr. Piggott (Dem.) of Connecticut favored repeal.

Mr. Dockery (Dem.) of Missouri said he would vote to maintain the entire pledge of the Democratic party at Chicago. The unconditional repeal of the Sherman act meant the unconditional surrender of silver. His vote would be recorded to restore silver to its ancient honor and dignity. [Applause.]

Mr. Moon (Rep.) of Michigan favored bimetallism.

Mr. Cobb (Dem.) of Alabama opposed the Wilson bill.

Mr. Barrows (Rep.) of Michigan then addressed the House having unanimous consent to speak for forty minutes. He had been stated in the course of the debate, and repeatedly asserted that the present silver dollar was the dollar of the fathers. That statement was untrue. It was not the dollar of the fathers. And the fathers, if living, would repudiate such an assumption as a reflection upon their integrity and sagacity. Those who favored the repeal of the act of 1890 were the only real bimetallists, and they were pursuing the only course by which bimetallism could be maintained.

Mr. Marsh (Rep.) of Illinois said he wanted more than the declaration of the Executive of this country before he would vote for the repeal of the Sherman law. When this policy of purchasing silver should be abandoned he would join the free coinage ranks.

Mr. Joseph (Dem.) of New Mexico favored free coinage.

Mr. Compton (Dem.) of Maryland said he would vote for unconditional repeal.

Mr. Money (Dem.) of Mississippi said that he had come to Washington prepared to vote for repeal, but had changed his views, and intended to vote against repeal.

Mr. Durborrow (Dem.) of Illinois said that it was the quality of money, rather than its quantity that gave confidence. The United States alone could not adopt free coinage.

Mr. Springer (Dem.) of Illinois favored unconditional repeal.

Mr. Sickles (Dem.) of New York advocated repeal.

Mr. Payne (Rep.) of New York would vote for repeal.

Mr. Taylor (Dem.) of Indiana spoke for bimetallism.

Mr. Breckinridge (Dem.) of Arkansas would vote for the repeal of the purchasing clause.

Mr. McRae (Dem.) of Arkansas attributed the present depression to the evils of the McKinley tariff law.

Mr. Dolliver (Rep.) of Iowa advocated the Wilson bill.

Mr. Simpson (Pop.) of Kansas asked unanimous consent for the consideration of a resolution authorizing the Speaker to appoint a committee to investigate the allegation that certain bankers were not paying their checks, and to inquire into the conduct of Secretary Carlisle and Comptroller Eckles in the premises.

The Speaker ruled the resolution out of order.

After recess Mr. Hermann (Rep.) of Oregon advocated free coinage and Mr. Branch (Dem.) of North Carolina followed in the same time.

Mr. Bynum (Dem.) of Indiana then replying to Mr. Pence's speech of yesterday said that the gentleman had turned his back upon the grand old Democratic party; not for the sake of getting pie, but for the purpose of eating "crow." [Laughter.] He quoted a speech made by Mr. Pence, going back, as charged, upon Democratic principles.

Mr. Pence retorted: "When I made those remarks I was as sober as a judge, and I want The Record to say so." [Hilarious applause.]

Then Mr. Bynum rose to a question of personal privilege and said: "Yesterday, jocularly, I made a remark which possibly might have been construed as meaning that I had been entertained in a manner that unfitted me to make a speech. My remarks were jocular and the gentleman knows that I was as sober as any man in Denver that night."

Mr. Pence: "I have said so, and I want to your friends last night to tell them you had been sober. [Laughter.]

Mr. Bynum: "Then you should not have cast this imputation."

Mr. Wilson (Rep.) of Washington then spoke in favor of free coinage.

Mr. McKeighan of Nebraska and Mr. Doolittle (Rep.) of Washington approved the Wilson bill.

Mr. Hulick (Rep.) of Ohio advocated bimetallism and charged the present depression upon the Democratic party for its attitude on the tariff. Mr. Wanger (Rep.) of Pennsylvania spoke in favor of repeal, and the House at 11 o'clock adjourned.

[illegible]

The Senate will close to-morrow. Mr. Wilson and Mr. Allen have assumed control and have selected their speakers in support of the bill to repeal the purchasing clause of the Sherman act. Messrs. Wilson, Cockran, Reed, Pelham, Clark, Alabama and Tracey have been put on Mr. Wilson's side up to night. For the adjustment preparing for the free coinage of silver offered by Mr. Bland, Messrs. DeArmond, Missouri, Williams, Illinois, Culberson and John Allen, Mississippi, will speak besides Mr. Bland.

[illegible]

Bypass Cut in the Record.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Late Pelican has scored a decided victory, than any other individual except at the national Congress. He is going to secure the publication of a card in to-morrow's Congressional Record, and such an unheard of thing was never done before. It is the card which appeared on a Denver paper showing an immense silver dollar with the head of Representative Bryan on it. It was made when Bryan made his silver speech in Denver.

It seems that Pelican during his speech yesterday secured unanimous consent to do this. By this action an old-time established by the sleepy Congressional publication has been smashed into smithereens.

MANY DROWNED.

Great Loss of Life in the Recent Atlantic Storm.

PORTLAND, ME., Aug. 25.—Assistant Engineer Albert Smith of the Boston & Maine Railroad company's steam collier "Pandora," when with the barge "Lykens Valley," was lost off the Long Island coast at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, arrived here to-day. Of the twenty persons on the two vessels only three were saved.

Paul Cooper came into New York harbor having been out through the storm. He says Thursday afternoon, while off Sandy Hook, he picked up a man clinging to the mast of the sunken wreck of the Schooner Narragansett, Captain Chase, from Philadelphia, which foundered that morning. The survivor was Henry Suzea. The rest of the crew, four in number, and Capt. Chase, were lost.

Charles Kletzberger of the fishing smack Malinda reports on Wednesday that about fourteen miles out, the vessel was struck by a hurricane and driven on her beam ends and five men swept overboard and drowned. Of the three remaining men Kletzberger was the only one injured.

Sixs Were Smothering.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Senator W. B. Allen, the Populist of Nebraska, said today that New York has vexed to be an American city and that the Southern and West were sensibly to resist the policy that would make of New York a sort of money despot in the republic. The Western people see that New York has too much undue influence at Washington and the Senator predicts that the national capital will be removed West at no remote time. He suggests St. Louis as a proper place for it.

A Jolly Party at Buzzard's Bay.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Aug. 25.—The President's boat carried a precious and at the same time a jolly party down Buzzard's Bay this afternoon. Besides the President, there were Governor Russell, Joe Jefferson, Secretary Lamont, Dr. Bryant and A. H. Wood. When the party left Gray Gables the wind blew very strong and a heavy sea was running. They fished nearly all of the afternoon and the President and the Governor brought ashore many bottle fish. All had a splendid time and enjoyed a delightful sail.

President Cleveland, it is understood, will leave Gray Gables on Tuesday, Aug. 29. Mrs. Cleveland and the servants will remain until the latter part of the week.

Concerning an Extra Session.

HELENA, Aug. 25.—Governor Richards, who returned from Washington to day, has not decided whether he will call an extra session of the legislature to elect a Senator. He says he will wait until Mantle's case is finally decided.

Nancy Hanks Trots.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 25.—The crowd at the Grand Circuit races to day was the largest for years, probably numbering 10,000 people. The greatest attraction of the day was Nancy Hank's mile against time in 2:08 which is, considering the rather loose track and the strong wind, one of the mare's best performances. On a second trial she got off finely and went the whole mile without step or break. Her mile is the fastest ever trotted in New England.

Actor Curtis Acquitted.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—The jury in the case of M. B. Curtis, "Samuel of Posen," for the murder of Policeman Grant, returned a verdict shortly after 9 o'clock this afternoon of acquittal. The jury on the first ballot stood 9 to 3 for acquittal. This is the third trial of Curtis. The jury in the first two trials disagreed.

No Silver Bought.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Three hundred and sixty-five thousand ounces of silver were offered for sale to the Treasury department to day at prices ranging from 71 cents to 77½ cents. The whole amount was declined at the prices asked and 54½ cents an ounce tendered. The purchases so far this month aggregate 3,000,000 ounces.

Sattley Re-arrested.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 25.—When Cashier E. S. Sattley of the suspended Kansas City Safe Deposit and Savings bank, who was arrested last week waived preliminary hearing this morning to the charge of grand larceny in receiving a deposit when he knew the bank to be insolvent, he was immediately re-arrested on three similar charges. Bond was fixed at $5,000 in each case.

Miners Drilling With Guns.

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 25.—The shooting at Litchfield, Kan., has terribly startled up the miners here. To day about fifty of them, with guns, drilled in vacant lots along the main street. Many of the strikers are armed with Winchesters and nearly all the others have shotguns and revolvers. They are very bitter against the negroes.

MOBS IN NAPLES.

Riots—Destroy Property and Disturb the City's Peace.

THE MILITIA IN CONTROL.

Other European News—The Cholera Slowly Spreading in Germany, Austria and Hungary—The Italy Reports.

ROME, Aug. 25.—Late dispatches from Naples say that mobs have been smashing street lamps and windows in the outlying districts since 8 o'clock. The military have been kept moving from district to district to disperse the rioters. Wherever the soldiers appeared they were hissed and hooted by the street crowds. Several sharp fights, in which many were injured, were reported at 11 o'clock.

Within the last three days the garrison in Naples has been strengthened by 12,000 troops. The regiments are composed of the young recruits of the city to-night. The prefect has issued a proclamation to the people, informing them that the city has been occupied by the military and that all of the further disorder will be suppressed by the summary action of the troops. He appeals to the citizens to stand by their patriotism and prevent bloodshed if possible.

Cholera Increases.

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—Three bargemen are reported to have died of cholera to day. Four deaths from cholera have occurred in Neussa, near Dusseldorf, in the last twenty four hours. One of the fatal cases was aboard the Rhine steamer Maria from Rotterdam.

VIENNA, Aug. 25.—Two cases daily in this city two or three cases of cholera. The United States consul here has received a telegram from the American consul in London and another from the United States consul at Havre stating that in consequence of the new quarantine regulations adopted by the Louisiana State Board of Health in respect to immigration from cholera affected ports the embarkation of emigrants bound from Antwerp and London or Havre for New Orleans has ceased.

[illegible]

VIENNA, Aug. 25.—Four fresh cases of cholera and six deaths were reported in Szabdes to day. Isolated cases were found in Szabmar, a county in East Hungary, and Beteca, a county westward from the Theiss.

THE STANDARD'S EUROPE.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The Vienna correspondent of The Standard telegraphed: "The cholera is slowly but steadily spreading in the great center of the population in Galicia and Hungary where it is difficult to eradicate it. To day a case was reported in Prosburg, thirty four miles from the capital."

A Mexican Fight.

EL PASO, TEX., Aug. 25.—At yesterday's fight at Puerto Del Martin, a pass in the mountains close to Nadotores on the road from the Cuatro Ciennages to Monclova, both factions were present in force and fought furiously. Finally the Galan men were driven off and retreated in great disorder toward Monclova. The loss is put at from twenty to twenty-five men on each side, but the Galanists lost more heavily.

The fight was brought about by the commander of the Galanists sending a messenger to the commander of the Cardenistas asking him why he ran away from a fight, adding that no Federal troops should take part. The practical answer was the despatch of a small body of Cardenistas to meet their opponents at whom they fired and retreated. The fight followed. The Galan troops pursued until within the range when the main body of the Cardenistas attacked and routed them. There were 170 Galanites engaged. Governor Garza Galan has been summoned to Mexico City.

Cause of the Strike.

BARNESVILLE, Minn., Aug. 25.—The boilermakers' strike takes in the entire brotherhood from St. Paul to Great Falls, Mon., on the Great Northern. The trouble seems to be that the company foreman here has been having helpers do the work of the boilermakers.

Petroleum at Neodesha.

NEODESHA, Kan., Aug. 25.—A strong flow of petroleum was struck yesterday three miles northwest of this city. It is pronounced as strong as well as any west of the Mississippi.

Died from His Injuries.

Some three or four weeks ago R. H. Wood, a railroad fireman, was coming down the Cog road on the toboggan, a simple machine for sliding down the track at a rapid rate, with two other men. They were thrown and all of them more or less injured, Wood having one of his legs broken. He was taken to Glockner home, this city, and had so far improved that he was able to get out of his room Thursday. Yesterday morning when the sisters went to call him they found him dead. A post mortem examination was made by Dr. Christopher and Coroner Morlow and showed that death had resulted from a blood clot in the heart. A clot of blood had formed in a vein near the wound and finally reached the heart.

Young Wood was about 25 years of age. He will be buried Sunday afternoon, with services at the Baptist Church in Colorado City at 2 o'clock.

Yesterday's Fires.

Shortly after 9 o'clock yesterday morning Charles Cast's wall paper and paint store on East Pike's Peak avenue was discovered to be on fire. The blaze was in the small store room in the rear and was quickly extinguished by the fire companies. The Jacksons were the first to get a stream on. The stock of wall paper was pretty nearly ruined by water. It is insured for $1,500 in companies represented by M. Kennedy. The origin of the fire is unknown; but it is supposed that oiled rags and a box of sawdust caused spontaneous combustion.

About 7:30 last evening an alarm was turned in from box 42. The fire boys ran to the rear of the Cucharras house, where it was learned that some people had been fumigating a chicken house by the use of fire. Some one had seen the smoke and turned in an alarm.

Alderman Finegan on Trial.

There was a lively time in Justice Walker's court yesterday. Alderman Frank Finegan was on trial charged with assault, but as usual the representative from the Fourth ward came out on top. The Misses Ellen and Francis Simpson are neighbors of the Alderman. Both are spinsters of mature years and of Celtic origin. As their house join the fire limits they have been unable to put up a frame addition, and recently they were ordered to connect with the sewers. For these apparent hardships they have blamed their representative in the Council chamber, and have been taking revenge by taunting and abusing his little adopted daughter. Thursday evening the Alderman and the elder Miss Simpson met in the alley back of their homes on South Cascade avenue and words ensued. In fact the best details of that portion of the city thought there was a wake up for news. The Alderman took a stick to argument, but whether he paddled her with it is not quite clear from the evidence. The Misses Simpson put up $5 to justice Walker's court to get out a warrant for Mr. Finegan's arrest, but refused to go on for any more costs. The trial came on yesterday afternoon, and the Cook County citizen was not a winner in it for him. The maiden Irish ladies conducted their own case, and Alderman Finegan addressed the jury on his own behalf. The jury was composed of E. J. Smith, Ainsworth Brown and Dan Dillon. The testimony was spicy in the extreme, and many adjectives and female lady expressions were very ordinary expressions.

Justice Walker in his usual impressive manner instructed the jury but forgot to tell them the law about collecting their fees. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty, and the Misses Simpson tried to induce the court to put the Alderman under bonds to keep the peace. They said they did not want the best lawyer but no man should come [illegible]

The court informed the jury that the law does not provide for paying their fees when a verdict of not guilty is rendered, and Juryman Dillon left the court room in high dudgeon.

DUN'S REVIEW.

Improvement in Trade More Decided and General.

CHANGE IN PUBLIC FEELING.

Fewer Failures and Money More Plentiful—Big Purchases of the Yellow Metal—General Tendency Resumption—Failures.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—R. G. Dun & Co's Weekly Review of Trade will say:

Decided improvement observed last week has become more distinct and general. While business transactions have increased but little the change in public feeling is very cheering. There are fewer failures, fewer of banks and of important concerns in manufacturing than for some weeks past. Money on call is more abundant and lower, as many interest loans have been paid since the banks ceased to send currency away, and arrangements are made for renewing or extending such loans, but there is little relief as respects mercantile accommodations out of the few big checks in the place of currency. The Secretary of the Treasury in answer to an inquiry has stated that no legal objection exists to the use of sight drafts on New York for small sums. The difficulty of collections and the exceptions of exchanges are nearly as serious as ever.

The number of industrial establishments resuming begins to compare fairly with the number stopping work. It cannot as yet be said that the army of unemployed has begun to decrease but the additions to it are much smaller than in previous weeks. Many resumptions only show that the stoppage was really temporary, or that wage controversies have been settled. A little better demand appears for some products. The shipments of boots and shoes from Boston show a decrease compared with last year of 20 per cent, for the week and 21 per cent. since June 1, but orders received to offset cancellations at the east. The cotton manufacturers show no improvement.

The market's spirited rise past week have not been in vain. In stocks the average gains have changed very little, and sales for the entire week have been less than half the average of previous weeks. Foreign currency is at a premium of 1 to 2 per cent, the demand is less than a week ago. Receipts of gold from Europe during the past week have been $6,[illegible] and the Bank of England has raised its rate to 5 per cent, which is expected to stop further shipments of gold to this country. The Bank of France has not shipped the past week at all. [illegible]

The demand for money has not yet ceased, and credit certificates are in use as yet to supply its place.

The failures of the past week number 1[illegible] in the United States and twenty in Canada. Of the commercial failures in the United States 1[illegible] were in Eastern States, [illegible] in Southern and 1[illegible] in Western.

New York Stock Market.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Money on call has been easy, ranging from 1 per cent for last loan, and closing offered at 4.

Prime mercantile paper 5@12 per cent. Posted rates [illegible]. Commercial bills 182[illegible]. Government bonds have been lower. State bonds have been dull. Railroad bonds have been firm. Silver at the stock exchange to-day was neglected.

The feature of the stock market at the opening to-day was a decline of 2 per cent. in Lackawanna and Northern, due to the receipt of lower quotations from London and talk of a strike. As the day advanced and it was seen that the currency situation was improving, the bulls took courage, and by placing fair buying orders in various stocks succeeded in turning the current in an upward direction. The advance ranged 1 to 2½ per cent. The general market then reached [illegible] from the highest, but the undertone was strong. The sales aggregated 1[illegible], including 17,[illegible] unlisted shares.

Legacies to an Eloquent Orator.

Perhaps the most far-reaching politician who ever lived in the matter of legacies was William Pitt, earl of Chatham. In consideration of his services to the country, the Duchess of Marlborough left him a legacy of £10,000. Some years afterward Sir William Pynsent died, leaving the great orator a legacy of £3,000 a year. This fortune was quite unexpected, and Pitt never saw his benefactor in his life.—London Tit-Bits.

Arousing a Chaplain.

It was in the Kansas legislature of 1891 that Speaker Elder had trouble with the Alliance chaplain. The individual always opened the work of lawmaking with a prayer.

One particular morning he had fallen asleep over in a corner. Elder wanted to begin business in a hurry; but the chaplain could not be found.

"Where's that chaplain?" he growled.

Finally he found him. He shook him vigorously and exclaimed in a voice that could be heard a block, "Get up there and do your praying, you lunkhead, and be quick about it too."—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

The Choice of a Star.

"Did you know," asked the girl in the tailor hat, "that the five pointed star on our national flag is a woman's idea? George Washington wanted to adopt a six pointed or ecclesiastical star, but Mrs. Betsey Ross, who made the first American flag, soon convinced him that a five pointed star could be more conveniently cut."—New York Times.

THE WAR ON THE PENSIONERS

We notice and spoke on the part of certain papers which are free to blame the G. A. R. for some of Secretary Hoke Smith's recent removal work upon the pensioners and to put the blame on the G. A. R. for it. This is not fair. Mr. Smith is acting in this matter only as the deputy and agent of his chief, Mr. Cleveland, made it very evident during his first term that he was against the pensioners. He used to stop night's labor only in the presence of young persons. Indeed, he vetoed bills of this kind were more numerous than all the vetoes of all the Presidents taken together who preceded him in the office. Not only did he veto them, but his veto messages were generally accompanied by the cobbits of elephantine sarcasm at the pensioners' expense.

The war on the pensioners begun in Mr. Cleveland's first administration is now waged with more vigor because Mr. Cleveland has chosen a Secretary of the Interior who is fully in accord with his views and Speaker Crisp has appointed as Chairman of the House Committee on Pensions a young Georgian who will doubtless do all in his power to aid them in carrying on the war. But these subordinates should not bear all the blame for the raid that is now in progress. The rash that is chiefly responsible is not Hoke Smith but Grover Cleveland.

FRANCE AND ITALY

The relations between France and Italy have not been especially cordial for some years, and the recent flare in the salt pits at Aigues Mortes has strained them almost to the point of breaking. It seems that the affair in question was not so much a riot as a massacre. The French workmen set upon the Italians, drove them to cover, kept up a fusillade upon them in the building whither they had fled for shelter and when they broke cover and ran for the town hunted them down like so many wild beasts, and killed or severely wounded more than a hundred of them.

It is no wonder that the mob in Rome is demanding satisfaction, and that there is an intense feeling throughout Italy.

Some reparation must be made by France, unless her rulers are more cowardly than has been supposed. Nothing short of the apprehension and condign punishment of the murderers is likely to be accepted by the Italian government as satisfactory. A mere expression of regret, couched in flowing language, would render the situation be are moderate. Italy will proceed in the matter with the more confidence in that she is sure of the backing of Germany. The French government will probably have to make a reparation that will be very distasteful to the Parisian boulevardiers but the elections are over now, so that the government can better afford to do the proper thing than it could a month ago.

The New York Sun proposes of the proposal to put the Western governors together and to prohibit commerce from the East, says that it may really come to be allowed to secede from the United States because it is needed for a rank separatist.

Mr. Bynum may have vindicated his consistency, but hardly his character, by intimating in the House that when he pledged himself to free coinage during his Denver speech he was drunk.

The New York Herald has moved up town but there is no reason to believe that the change will bring about a lucid interval.

The City Council is doing its duty admirably so far as the new ditch is concerned.

The only colored man in the House of Representatives Mr. George Washington Murray of South Carolina is for free coinage.

The only Colorado paper that stands up for Senator Teller is the Aspen Leader.

Mr. Lafe Pence is undoubtedly in the use of the right kind of talk.

WHEN THE MILLS SHUT DOWN

[illegible]

It Speaks for Colorado Democracy

[illegible] the people of intelligence that the village for a free silver bill in compromise on the ratio. There are thousands of men who believe in the justice of the demand for silver remonetization but insist that the ratio shall be fixed as nearly as possible to the parity between the metals in bullion. If such a compromise shall be agreed to by the Senate and House, Congress and will there is no doubt of its passage. There is a strong certainty that if such a bill should pass that will make the coinage value of silver bullion $1 an ounce and I will guarantee prosperity to the mining industry in this State. Denver Evening Post.

The Best Gold of All

Up in all the unhappiness and blank discontent prevailing in the East will presently shut down the thick cloud of fog and rain which begins to gather late in September and increases as the season advances, chilling the very bones, and spirit with gloom. All the winter the East will be enveloped in that bank of clouds, while the bright and dry and sunny uplands will bask in the sunlight, the best gold of all.

Out of the turmoil of the legislators something good for the West may come or it may not. But the West is a good place anyhow. Pueblo Chieftain.

Vernon L. Thomas, Chairman National Executive Committee.

Starlessness an Enemy of the Artistic.

Architects in New York city include the lack of starlight among the curses of this nineteenth century. Not only does it make people look ill-tempered and clothes unpleasant to wear, but it makes them look old. Even the best of complexions, of a foreign tint, need a clear, bright New York sky to show the beauty and strength of effect that they and the rest of the modern man. That wonderful invention, the modern short clear-cut hat, loses its effect in the worst of weather, and the bonnet disappears. The entire atmosphere of the city is dull and lifeless. The effect of unique dresses is gone, the effect of careless artistic and stiffness and dreariness. It is not that an effect is lost. Nobody could be easier to look thoroughly well in our clothes. We want to create a reaction in sentiment against starlessness.

Trapping a Burglar.

At the boarding house where I was staying in Washington I had a room on the second floor back. A hall ran the length of the house, and numerous side doors led into the hall. My bell was very well and I heard at the door of my room. Being the only lodger with the exception of an old gentleman who was a retired Episcopal clergyman, I was in the habit of leaving my door open when I was in my room, as I could see the door of my room from my table. I had been in the house three or four days, and had seen the old gentleman only at meals. I was very much surprised one night, after I had retired, to see the door of my room open and the old gentleman enter softly and stealthily. I was very much surprised at his actions, and was about to speak to him when he came to my bed and stood by the side of it, with his back to me, and commenced to fumble in the pocket of my pantaloons, which I had thrown over the foot of the bed

It is announced that the Old Comedy company, which will appear at the opera house Monday evening, is really the most imposing organization of its kind that has been formed in the metropolis for several years. The fact that Mrs. Drew, the foremost actress in America today, leads the company is probably all the recommendation the playgoing public needs to know. She has been identified with the highest forms of dramatic art and for several years past she has been associated with that eminent actor, Joseph Jefferson, in grand productions of "The Rivals" and other plays. For the tour this season new and costly costumes by Eaves of New York have been procured. The engagement of the Old Comedy company is one of the stellar features of the bookings the past summer.

Mrs. John Drew.

A life long friend of Mrs. John Drew, who is familiar with her career on the stage, said of her: "No living actress has been so long identified with legitimate theatrical art as Mrs. Drew. She has played in every branch of the drama. In early life she was a favorite in burlesque and comedietta, and everything she did invariably merited the highest praise. I recall with pleasure her admirable performances in 'The Comedy of Errors' and 'The Serious Family' at the Arch Street theater, Philadelphia, in the early 50's, when her husband was one of the managers of that house. In 'The Serious Family' her versatility and sprightliness were shown. Mrs. Drew's mother was in the cast. When the fairy extravaganza, 'Fortunio,' was presented there Mrs. Drew performed the title role, and made an attractive young boy for which she received great credit. What is now known as the topical song was then unknown, but Mrs. Drew introduced a number of local verses in 'Hop-le Dandle Do,' and sang them amid thunders of applause, executing a language at the end of each verse. Another pleasing remembrance of Mrs. Drew was her Lady Macbeth to Edwin Forest's Macbeth at the Walnut Street Theater. She was in every way a great Lady Macbeth. When Mrs. Drew became the manageress of the Arch Street Theater her great versatility as an actress was frequently displayed. She showed a greater fondness for comedy. Among her best impersonations during the early part of her managerial career were in 'Clars' and in 'Rosedale.' As you know she has latterly devoted herself entirely to the character of Mrs. Malaprop, the crowning work of her long and brilliant career."

Double Thanks Homely Expressed.

Governor Hoffman of New York delighted to tell an amusing incident which occurred during his term of office. A bill was passed regulating the size of apple barrels, which was so unjustly of a character that the governor vetoed it.

In the following summer an old farmer from the Mohawk valley came into the executive chamber, and producing a letter of introduction, said:

"Governor, I've come to ask you to pardon my son out of state prison. He's been there goin on two year, and his time'll be up in about two months. Harvest is comin on in two or three weeks, governor, and I kind o' thought I should like to have him up to the farm. He'd be quite handy. Don't you think you could do it?"

"There was something about him," said the governor, "that impressed me he was a good old fellow, and I told him I would pardon his boy."

The old man beamed with delight and rose to take his departure.

"I thank you, governor, for pardonin him now, because hands are scarce, and on behalf of my neighbors I thank you for veto in the apple barrel bill."—Youth's Companion.

Sending Messages In China.

China has not yet established government postoffices or a postal system for the masses of the people, with all her adoption of modern ways, but private enterprises depended upon to render communication easy between various parts of the empire. This private transmission of mail is conducted through what are called "letter shops." No stamps are used, but the "shop," or sign, of the keeper of the "letter shop," is always placed upon the envelope.

In China imperial edicts and other official communications are carried from city to city and province to province by couriers. Generally they make the trip afoot, but in case of great haste they are provided with horses at government relay stations. Official letters or dispatches are thus conveyed in days of emergency 200 or 250 miles a day.
